

Tactical Core Income Fund

% Invested: Risk-on vs. Risk-off (2012-2023)

Disciplined Risk Management: executing a truly tactical rules-based investment process for 35+ years

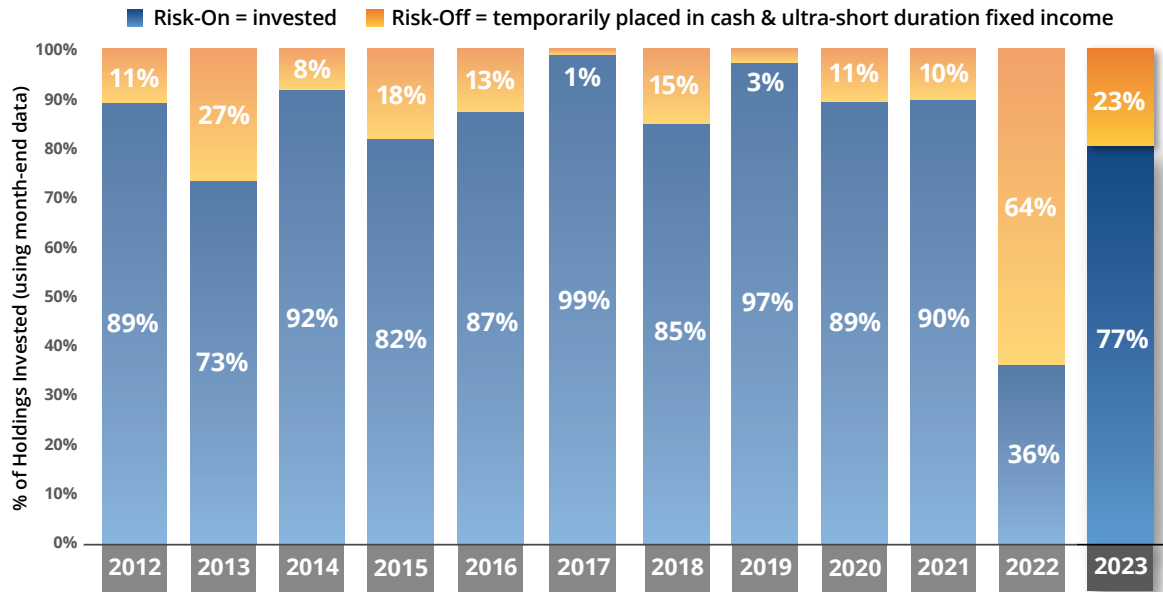

Our aim is to grow client wealth by focusing on the following objectives:

- 1 Participate opportunistically in global investment uptrends while
- 2 Using our tactical discipline to help limit downside risk.

As our portfolio managers analyze and allocate Fund assets to sectors including global fixed income, MLP, REIT, and alternative strategies, each decision serves one or both of our two objectives.

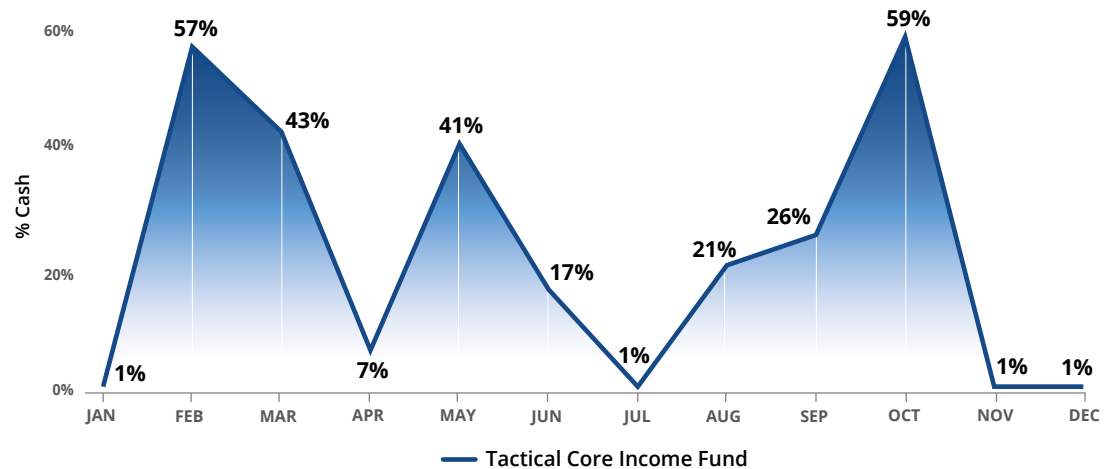

Our trailing stop discipline is applied to each individual underlying fund and is reviewed daily with the goal of limiting drawdowns on the portfolio.

The Fund can move to cash without hesitation in times of turbulence with the aim of limiting sustained declines on any holding in the portfolio. The fund can hold up to 100% cash when there are no upward trends in the market.

The Sierra Tactical Core Income Fund invests in underlying fund investments in lower-quality bonds, known as high-yield or junk bonds, which present greater risk than bonds of higher quality. Municipal securities are subject to the risk that legislative changes and economic developments may adversely affect the value of the Fund's investments. REIT risks included declines from deteriorating economic conditions, changes in property value, and defaults by borrower. Underlying funds that own small and mid-capitalization companies may be more vulnerable than larger, more established organizations to adverse business and economic developments. In some instances, it may be less expensive for an investor to invest in the underlying funds directly. Underlying funds may invest in foreign emerging market countries that may have relatively unstable governments, weaker economics, and less-developed legal systems which do not protect investors. In general, the price of a fixed income security falls when interest rates rise. Any strategy that includes inverse securities should cause the Fund to suffer significant losses.

Portfolio holdings are subject to change and should not be considered investment advice. No amount of diversification or non-correlation can ensure profits or prevent losses. This is an actively-managed portfolio. There is no guarantee that any investment (or this investment) will achieve its objectives, goals, generate positive returns, or avoid losses.

Invest Wisely.
